

Fresh news on local foods and agriculture delivered right to your inbox each month!

If you've been a member of the Agriculture Collaborative for a while now, you may remember our quarterly printed newsletter- The Agribusiness Connection. We are now excited to announce the replacement of that printed publication with a monthly e-format newsletter- Local Food Connections. This new publication will keep you better informed about local foods and agriculture in our Central New Mexico region.

Below you can sign up to receive Local Food Connections and view previous editions online.
